Helpful Hints

1. All efforts to ensure delivery will be made but any delays related to FedEx or a delivery service can't be guaranteed by OxygenToGo®. We highly suggest you give yourself 2+ days before departure.
2. FAA battery requirements dictate that you have 150% of battery time for your flight time. A OxygenToGo® team member can assist you in ensuring correct battery for your transit.
3. Shipping Charges – All shipping charges to and from the customer are billed to that customer!
4. Due to the size of the fax, you may need to turn off your fax to reset the memory.
5. **We Do Not bill any insurance.** Not Government or private. Not Medicare or Medicaid.
6. If flying, you should take multiple copies of the Physician's Statement with you to the airport.
7. Do Not call your POC a "tank" or "tank of oxygen". Doing so could delay your boarding.
8. You are responsible for traveling with a sufficient supply of batteries to last the journey, per your oxygen requirements, including the duration of the flight, all ground time (before and after flight and during connections) and for unexpected delays. Consult your OxygenToGo® agent for further information.
9. You must notify the airline that a Portable Oxygen Concentrator (POC) unit will be used in flight
10. If you cancel the rental shipment while in transit with FedEx it still may deliver to you or patient. If so, you can either refuse it or, if it was delivered before you can refuse it, you need to call OxygenToGo® to ensure correct return of the rental device.
11. After submitting forms via fax or email, please wait 25 minutes then call OxygenToGo® to confirm we have received your order.

FAQ'S

1. What should I take with me on the plane? Everything except for the shipping container and return label.
2. How do I get the Portable Oxygen Concentrator (POC) unit? We ship the unit to the location noted on page one (1) of this document.
3. What do I do with the shipping container the POC is/was delivered in? On a "round-trip" (the user will return where the device is first delivered to them), you would leave it at home. If a "one-way" (the user will not return to the location the device is first delivered to them), you would check it as a piece of luggage. Note: Do no attempt to take the shipping container into the passenger cabin.
4. How do I return the POC unit? The box that you receive has a return FedEx return airbill. And for any reason you decide to use another carrier or another bill besides the one provided, you must notify OxygenToGo® with that new number. Follow the instructions and call with questions. Note: You are responsible for returning the unit. Please communicate with Nursing and Rehab centers clearly that if the unit is not picked up that you are notified.
5. How do I make payment? Credit card is currently the only option for payment. Upon placement of the reservation we will charge the credit card and then again when the rental unit is shipped and/or returned.
6. Do I need a prescription? OxygenToGo® is required to have a Doctor's prescription in order to supply you with any oxygen system. A fax copy of the prescription is acceptable. Fax 866-903-9709.
7. How big is the shipping case? (18"x16"x18"), or (21", 7", 9"), depending on the device selected.
8. Does the unit only work on battery power? No, the rental unit also has a car adaptor and wall power cord that can power the device. All devices can use international power up to 240v, but you will need the physical plug adapter.
9. Do you have rental terms shorter than one week? No, due to transport, usage, and cost of the rental package our shortest rental term is one week. Please review cancellation policy for refund information. Variation from policy will not be permitted under any circumstances unless in writing from OxygenToGo®.
10. Can the user rely on the possibility that the aircraft has a power port or plug? No. FAA regulations don't mandate such a requirement from the airlines.
11. Can I buy the rental unit? Yes, you can purchase the unit you have or a new unit. Call for details.
12. How much is shipping? Depending upon transit service selected and distance, cost range $50 to $150+.

In such case the rental charges and other obligations of the Customer shall continue during the period of repair or until replacement. If OxygenToGo® is unable to repair or replace the equipment then option (i) shall apply.
